SPI was born from a dream to develop a radically different 20th Century insulation, and to cover the world with a product that is safe, cost-effective, and performs to its promises and beyond. As the 21st Century has unfolded, the expanded SPI product line fits into all “green” product categories and emerging markets, and is more current than ever before with concerns for energy savings and investment return. SPI is dedicated to be a leader in the “green” movement worldwide, and is committed to growth and improvement in the observation of all international codes and
